From the Headmaster

Dear Parents and Boys,

No longer considered 'new' or even 'relatively new', the School has pretty much run out of notable 'firsts' that were so commonplace in the early days of Wetherby Prep. We had one this week though, with Sebastian B, achieving a Music Exhibition to Eton. Seb's achievement is even more remarkable considering he only started playing the piano eighteen months ago; first learning via You Tube, and then from our very own Mr Sam Grew. Anyone that has heard Seb play will appreciate how supremely and naturally gifted he is at the piano but it is also a lesson that it is never too late to pick up an instrument and demonstrates what can be achieved in a short space of time with dedication and genuine love and passion for an instrument. Well done, Seb – we are all very proud of you and, as we always say in these circumstances, on the Board you go!

As a tribute to Seb's achievement, Miss Orpwood and Mr Jenkinson are back LIVE on Instagram (@wetherbyprep) next Tuesday at 8pm with their 'Best of' Concert. Bands tend to release their 'Best of...' albums at the end of their careers and whilst this is certainly not the end of Nia and Jay, it does (hopefully) signal an end to our Lockdown period and all the adaptations we have made to Wetherby Prep life. With Half Term the week after next and numbers and data all going in the right direction, the educational sector is becoming increasingly confident about March 8th as our return date, particularly for primary age children. As soon as we hear anything for certain we will let you know but be assured we have enough tests to check every boy and every staff member twice weekly from March 8 to the end of term and have processes in place at School to make the environment as safe and covid-free as is reasonably possible. And of course, we wholly support those within the sector and government who are pushing for school staff across the country to be vaccinated as soon as possible.

Finally, thank you for your continued support for our School and staff throughout this trying time, and for your empathy with the words in my daily emails. The intention is to reflect home situations within our community, though some clearly hit the mark with uncanny accuracy, as Alexander S's workspace displays below!

Have a good weekend,

Nick Baker

Citizen of the Week

This week's Citizen of the Week is Henry C (8G). We have been very impressed with Henry this term and his mature approach to his studies. First to lessons, camera on and brilliant engagement. He completes classwork to a very high standard and hasn't missed one assignment. His test scores are the highest they have been and he is becoming more confident in his abilities. He looks like a CEO with his giant desk chair and head set - ready for lesson ahead!

Sportsman of the Week

This week's Sportsman of the Week is Aaron S in 4L. Aaron has been fully committed to his Games lessons and is always the last to leave the session. He has bought some dumbbells to enhance his fitness programme and is getting fitter and stronger with every week! Well done, Aaron!

Class-Achievement

Kindness Cup

Kaan A 4S

During TPR this week I was helping a boy in 4S get set up on OneNote. Other boys were asking questions about the task on the chat and Kaan took it upon himself to answer these questions. This was incredibly helpful, Kaan explained what we were doing and where to find the work clearly and helped quite a few boys (and Miss Orpwood). Thank you, Kaan!

Miss Orpwood

Other notable 'Acts of Kindness'

◆ Justin W 5C

He is just wonderful, so polite, helpful and a joy to teach! He sends the most lovely messages about 'enjoying' his day, asking how you are/how boys are getting on. He also will copy links into the chat when boys can't find things to help out! He's so supportive and considerate to other boys! Today he congratulated everyone on their speed tests.

Miss Saddington

◆ Joshua L 8G

Helps me out with all sorts of technical wizardry all in the name of Maths. Great kid.

Mr Gascoine

◆ Nicolas V 5C

Offered to show Benjamin Meyohas how to upload a photo to One Note. A lovely boy.

Miss Preece

◆ Cyrus F 4L

He created a video of how to make a 'kinetic stick bomb' that he had done himself last week. He posted it on our Team with a marvellous message, in response to boys in the form wanting to have a go themselves. Showing our school values of Teamwork and Kindness—fabulous!

Miss Lister

◆ Miles C 5S

Miles has produced exceptional work in Maths this term and he is also such a delight to have in Form Time! He's always so polite and kind to everyone, and will go above and beyond to help and support his classmates. For Children's Mental Health Week this week, the boys were expressing their feelings through drawing and music, and sharing how they felt. Miles would give each boy a round of applause afterwards and send kind messages in our group chat to show his support. What a caring and considerate gesture!

Miss Sheldon

◆ Saverio A 6F

Showed to the form the Microsoft app "To do" and shared his best tips on how to use it to help boys organise themselves every day. Very thoughtful!

Mlle Flomet

◆ Zahaan M & Zubin D'S 3H

Both boys showed a great collaborative attitude during Thursday's non-verbal reasoning lesson, supporting others with clear explanations to help them find the answer!

WORD SUDOKU RULES!

These are played just like a regular sudoku, except that each of the digits is replaced by a unique letter. Each of the nine rows and columns, as well as each of the nine subregions, must contain one and only one of each of the nine letters.

HOW TO SOLVE CRYPTOGRAMS

Here are a few tips that should help you get started

- Pencil in a possibility
- Consider letter frequency. Typically, the most common letters used in English are: E, T, A, O, I, and N. These will be the letters you are most likely to find in most cryptograms.
- Solve any single letter words first.
- Look for common, small words next
- Look for contractions and possessives. There are only a small number of letters that might appear after an apostrophe and some have a recognizable pattern.

Wetherby Weekly Chess Blog

Mr Gascoine writes...

Being an avid reader of Mr Baker's Monday – Friday Blog (all staff are, natch), I was interested to read of Mr B's summary of the film 'The Dig' and the treasure from the Sutton Hoo site that is displayed in The British Museum. It reminded me of my quarrying days and giving my sister a Mammoth Tusk I had unearthed from a sand and gravel quarry in Devon - (the tusk fell apart within 24 hours) my sister wasn't happy!

Also in The British Museum is the oldest and most important Chess Set ever found – The Lewis Chess Set, found on a beach on the Isle of Lewis in 1851. The pieces date back to the 12th century and are carved from walrus tusk and depict characters in a variety of seemingly bad moods – from rage to despair. All too familiar traits if you play chess.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7e5TKZTyqxY>
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=HDzYIT2pSzU>

I did buy a Lewis Set for the school and the Wetherby Chess finals are all played on it. Wonderful, intricate pieces with Norman shields and swords. Apparently when the pieces were discovered the locals thought that they had uncovered goblins and elves!

If you fancy a game I can be found on Lichess.org, Saturday mornings from 9am onwards. (after I have made my wife a cup of tea and phoned my mother!)

Pluto's atmosphere gets its blue haze from icy organic compounds, study suggests

The haze shrouding Pluto might be made up of ice crystals possessing cyanide hearts, a new study finds.

Hazes, which are made of tiny motes of dust, smoke, ice and other substances, are not unique to Earth—scientists have detected hazes enveloping Mars, Venus, Saturn and Jupiter.

Nor are hazes limited to planets. Saturn's largest moon Titan, the only moon known to have clouds, is cloaked in a thick orange haze similar in makeup to smog on Earth.

China's 1st Mars rover will get one of these 10 names, and you can vote to select the winner

The 10 names — Hongyi, Qilin, Nezha, Chitu, Zhurong, Qiusuo, Fenghuolun, Zhuimeng, Tianxing and Xinghuo — are taken from ideas including Chinese mythological figures, Confucian concepts and legendary animals.

Kindness Jars

Ayden in 4S writes...

This week we have been learning about kindness. We have made jars of kindness and thought about why we should be kind. In our jars we put:

1. Five acts of kindness you can do at home.
2. Five acts of kindness in the public.
3. Five kind words or sentences you could say to people.

Marcus in 4S writes...

We have been talking about why it is important to be kind and how saying one kind thing to another person can change the world! It is good to be kind because when you do something kind to another person they have this exquisite feeling and they are so happy it can make their day. The person who did the kind deed will be happy as well because when the person comes to you and says thank you to you, it is nice and gives you that exquisite feeling too.

Ned in 4S writes...

In TPR this week, we have made kindness jars to make sure people are kind from their heads to their toes. In mine, I put to keep the community tidy and to always help people.

Mr Bayes writes...

Dear Parents,

Thank you for your patience whilst we have been busy testing Lightspeed, the 'at-home' internet filtering solution. This has now been deployed to all pupils' surface go devices and is actively filtering your son's internet traffic. You'll be pleased to know that we've used the same tried and tested "whitelist" (sites that we've allowed through the filter) for the at-home solution, as we do when your son is in school. This allows access to all the educational sites that he might use during a typical remote learning day. We will continue to add trusted sites to the whitelist, if they are inadvertently blocked, and ask you to forward screen shots of any blocked sites that teachers have asked your son to access, or sites you believe should be added to the whitelist to:

homeaccesssupport@wetherbyprep.co.uk

The "blacklist" (you guessed it), will continue to block sites that we believe have no educational benefit. There is a myriad of categories that do not adhere to our educational website policy, and we continue to add them when identified. The most recent website to be added is 'Discord', a gaming chat room which is becoming increasingly popular. Ominously sounding, Discord is the next big thing in gaming world (remember the Fortnite dance....) and many of you have written to me to voice your concerns. However, unlike the innocuous Fortnite dance moves (I still can't do any of them), Discord attracts adult gamers (and others) to discuss all manner of games, and a worryingly increasing and varied list of chat topics. Below you will find a parents' guide to Discord and its dangers. Please take time to watch and discuss with your son. Mr Morrison and I will be talking about Discord in ICT lessons next week.

Parents' Ultimate Guide to Discord | Common Sense Media

Even though the lightspeed filtering system provides superb "first level" protection against the inappropriate websites, we must still discuss internet danger issues with young people and allow them to develop a natural caution towards dialogue and engagement with strangers online. In these times of increased use of technology, it's always prudent to initiate friendly chatter and openness with your son and explore how he is using the internet in his spare time. This in-it-together approach I have found to be very effective, especially when boys start to enter the moody teenager phase!

Please do feedback any internet experiences or strategies you feel may be beneficial. The in-it-together motto works on a teacher – parent level also!

Sebastian Bell

The Music Department are very proud of Sebastian B in 8V. Seb has gone from 0-60 on the piano in a very short space of time. From teaching himself to play on YouTube, he started lessons with the wonderful Mr Sam Grew and has since realised his love of music and particularly the piano. Over the past 18 months, Seb has put all of his time and effort into his piano practice and this week his hard work was rewarded with a Music Exhibition at Eton. We are all very proud of the hard work and effort Seb has put in to achieve his goal. Well done, Seb - we can't wait to see and hear what you accomplish in the future!

Wetherby News

This week, we were grateful to receive a parcel of brand new children's books donated by Sir John Ritblat (Chairman of Alpha Plus Group) to add to our growing library. This range of new titles will be much appreciated by the boys who love being immersed in the lives of fictional characters and learning about new cultures.

"Donating these books, of both classic and contemporary titles, has been a great pleasure for me. The effects of reading on a child's development are immense -- numerous studies have highlighted its benefits. As an avid reader myself, I hope that these books will be a gateway to new knowledge and cultures and, of course, provide a great deal of pleasure in the process."

We must cultivate a taste for reading in these bright, young minds of today for, to paraphrase Ben Okri, reading is one of the greatest acts of civilisation. It takes the free raw material of the mind and builds castles of possibilities.

To this end, I wish our pupils all the very best that life can offer them and hope that these books will provide both amusement and much value at the start of their journeys in life."
